New Work Planned In Battambang, Cambodia
With An Air Conditioning Mechanic Vocational Training Component

Although the church has been in Cambodia since 1998 and there are more than 70 congregations, there are still many major cities where there is no congregation or where the work is small and struggling. Dr. Sereiwath, a Dentist who was taught the truth by Dr. Paul Pinckley while serving on the Ship of Life, moved back to his home town of Battambang several years ago and has been pleading for someone to come and help him to establish the church in that city. He started the church, meeting in his dental office where he taught his wife and others and is looking forward to having assistance in developing the church there.

After seven years in Siem Reap, Cambodia, Phanat Ouch is planning to move to Battambang this summer, the second largest city in the country, to work with Dr. Sereiwath in growing the church there. Phanat’s work in Siem Reap has been exemplary and he is working toward developing a Bible school that will include vocational training, an orphanage and the local church.

With the building boom throughout the country Phanat has decided to include Air-conditioning Maintenance as a part of the vocational training, because there is a shortage of skilled workers in this field. Phanat is currently enrolled in an air-conditioning course at the University of Texas that will provide him with a license and certificate which will qualify him to run such a training program. (What a guy – becoming all things to all men.)

Partners In Progress is partnering with him in this new visionary work, knowing with his experience, determination and commitment the Lord will bless this effort as He did in Siem Reap.
